

to the Spotlight's Glare;
Had a Good
Lasted"

in "The Follies" to think about a real and every minute she can get her camera.

Richard Carle has discovered that onions have a sense of humor. But then the onions down on his place at Long Branch are highly cultivated onions.

Anna Nilsson of screen fame isn't a quarrelsome person at all, but every moment that she can spare is devoted to the courts. The tennis courts, of course, as you may see in the picture.
And Alice Brady (at the right) just revelled in flowers out at Bay Side.

Julia Dean spent her vacation at Croton
on the Hudson
just taking it
easy, she says,
and making
love—yes, and to the best
old fellow
that ever
was.

David Belasco
has organized a little Lambs club
of his own up at his new country
place at Mamaron-
neck. Mr. Belas-
co has had long experience gamboling with Lambs.
Photo by Will A.
Page.

To be Julia Sanderson and own an automobile and a prize bull terrier and to be signed up for a second season in "Sybil" ought to be enough for one young woman, but Julia must go to Deal Beach, too.

Marjorie Rambeau, who is scoring new triumphs in "Cheating Cheaters," the unique crook play at the Eltinge, is deserving of all the goods the gods provide. But her best vacation, she says, is the return to her beautiful home on Riverside Drive after the performance.